SENATORIAL CONTESTS.

NEBRASKA

LINCOLN, Jan. 25.—In the joint session of the legislature to-day Power received 41 votes, Paddock 30, Majors 12 and the rest scattering. An open breach was made last night between Paddock and Thurston, and it is now believed that Senator Paddock's re-election is out of the question. The indications are that Paddock will make a fight to the finish and uncover all the strength he may have to-morrow.

WISCONSIN.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 25. The senatorial situation is fast reaching a climax and before another twenty-four hours passes over the heads of the three candidates one of them will be elected to the United States senate to succeed Sawyer. Those who profess to know say that the Knight men are weakening and when the break comes Mitchell will have the requisite number to elect. Thirty ballots have been taken and no choice, and the members are becoming weary of the struggle.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, Jan. 25.—At noon the senate and house met in joint session and elected C. J. Smith as United States senator to serve for a term of six years from March 4, 1893.

NORTH DAKOTA.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 25.—The Republican caucus held this evening, 45 of the 52 Republicans being present. Eighteen declared that they would under no circumstances vote for Cutler. It was found also that none of the other candidates could secure the full vote. The caucus adjourned without nominating. A messenger is on the way here from Fargo with a petition signed by nearly every prominent Republican of Fargo asking the Cass county delegation to continue to vote for Roach—Democrat. It is the general belief to-night that Benton will be elected to-morrow.

WASHINGTON.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 25.—Two ballots were taken for senator today. There was no change from yesterday.

A Peculiar Burglary.

DENVER, Jan. 25.—Burglars effected an entrance into the residence of David H. Moffat, president of the First National Bank, No. 1706 Lincoln avenue, last night. Nothing is known to have been stolen and it is claimed that the intruders were looking for some valuable papers supposed to be concealed in the house. Whoever the burglars were they evidently knew what they were after and were well acquainted with the premises, as the only room entered and ransacked was a closet in a bath room just off of Mr. Moffat's private sleeping room.

A lace of Mr. Moffat's scarf pins valued at $1,000 was on the dresser in his sleeping room. They were not touched. Silver to the amount of eight or nine hundred dollars in value, including a $300 punch bowl, were within easy reach of the robbers if they had been in search of pelf of the kind.

Mr. Moffat and his wife are in New York, and it is probable that some enemies entered the house for the purpose of securing papers which would be valuable to them.

A Committee Wants Committee.

DENVER, Jan. 25.—The legislative committee of the state board of county commissioners met in the room of the board of county commissioners to-day, pursuant to a resolution passed at the annual meeting, Dec. 15. The object of the meeting is to draft such laws as will better enable commissioners to govern the counties, and to present such bills to the legislature with recommendations that the same be passed. Present were: J. C. Trombley, Larimer; Arapahoe county: J. C. Plumb, El Paso county; M. H. Murray, Bent county; A. K. Stephens, Gunnison county; C. C. Welburn, Otero county; J. Sherman, Kiowa county.

Football in Colorado.

DENVER, Jan. 25.—Denver will have professional football this season. Such is the assurance of Geo. Tobeau, the well known player who is just now actively engaged in making preliminary arrangements for a club in Denver and other Colorado points and for the formation of a state league, whose membership will include the best ball teams in Colorado.

On Feb. 8 Tobeau will start on a tour of the principal cities of the state for the purpose of forming a league. The league will be either a four or six club one, and will be made up from the towns of Denver, Pueblo, Leadville, Aspen and Trinidad in Colorado and Cheyenne, Wyo.

A Miner Frozen.

LEADVILLE, Colo., Jan. 25.—John Burns, a miner, employed at the Fannie Rawlins mine, was picked up this morning between the Midnight and the Fannie Rawlins mine in a frozen and almost lifeless condition. He had left his boarding place during the night and started for the mine, but lost his way and wandered about all night.

A New Mining Company.

DENVER, Jan. 25.—To-day a certificate of incorporation of the new Bullock Mining company was filed with the secretary of state. The capital stock is $3,000,000 and the incorporators are: Warner Miller, Geo. F. Folts and C. R. Small of New York, N. Matey Tabor and H. F. Selleck of Denver. This company has purchased the famous Bullock mine at Rosita.

Rio Grande Earnings.

DENVER, Jan. 25.—The earnings of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad for the third week of January were $161,800, a decrease as compared with the same period of last year of $8,[illegible]. The total earnings for the fiscal year to date are $5,681,[illegible], against $5,[illegible] for the same period last year, an increase of $[illegible] or 8.80 per cent.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION.

[illegible]

A Bishop for Western Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 25.—The consecration of Rev. W. B. Baker of this city as Bishop of Western Colorado took place in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 11 o'clock this morning. The services in connection with the consecration were most elaborate and impressive, the music inspiring, and the sermon, preached by Bishop Talbot of St. Paul, a veritable feast of eloquence. Among the large number of bishops and clergy present from distant cities and states were Right Rev. B. Wistar Morris, bishop of Oregon, Right Rev. John F. Spalding, bishop of Colorado; Right Rev. E. McLaren, bishop of Chicago, Right Rev. Mahlon N. Gilbert, assistant bishop of Minnesota, St. Paul, and Right Rev. J. L. Nicholson of Milwaukee.

Father Toth of San Francisco and Father Dabonski of Minneapolis were present authorized representatives of the Greek church, an unusual and significant circumstance. Bishop Baker will leave for Denver, Feb. 15, and will then enter upon the visitation of his new diocese.

A Notable Revival.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 25.—The climax of the revivals conducted by Mills, which have been in progress here for three days, was reached to-day when the business houses of the city, big and little, closed their doors and the people united in a series of monster religious meetings. Nothing like it was seen before. It was like a Sabbath day, except that no Sabbath ever saw so many attendants upon divine worship. Neighborhood prayer meetings were held at 8 o'clock this morning and it is estimated 30,000 people attended them. One hour later there were services in every Protestant church in the city. At 10 o'clock the immense tabernacle was filled and the Rev. Mills conducted his first service. The women of the city united in prayer at the tabernacle at 2 o'clock and fully 50,000 people attended the general meeting.

To-night another meeting is being held. The number of conversions for the day runs well up into the hundreds.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Money on call has been easy, ranging from 1½ to 2½; last loan at 2, and closing offered at 2.

The stock market to-day was by turns extremely active and comparatively dull, while during the forenoon some strength was shown, especially in the coal stocks, while later the entire market without exception moved off and the final changes are generally material losses. There was some buying of stocks for London account this morning and the demand for American shares stimulated by the fortnightly settlements at that center made higher prices for American stocks, which were responded to here by opening advances of from ½ to ¾ per cent. The general expectation was that should gold go out it would be in small amounts, and this helped along the inclination to buy, though only in the coal stocks and a few of the industrials was there any material improvement. The feeling in the coalers was very hopeful and the winter is now sufficiently advanced to warrant the friends of the [illegible] in claiming that the present year will equal all others, both in the amount of coal mined and the prices obtained.

Later in the day, however, it was reported that the Delaware and Hudson and the New York and New Haven had entered into a combination to supply New England with coal in opposition to the Reading New England-Boston and Maine combination. There were also rumors of legislative action at Albany against the combination and it is calculated that the new combination will deprive the Reading of about one-half of its New England coal trade. The effect of the rumors was to depress the coalers and former gains were lost entirely.

The principal activity, however, and material changes were again confined to the Industrials, and while the information that the earnings of the Cordage company will show more than $3,000,000 net for the fiscal year was sufficient to cause a net advance of three and a quarter in the common and a proportionate one in the preferred, the rest of the Industrials, especially Distillers and Sugar were heavily pounded for sale for both sides of the account, particularly in the afternoon when it was stated that a large foreign house had bought checks in Paris on London and sold bills on London here at a satisfactory price and that it would accordingly ship gold on Saturday.

The amount to go forward was then calculated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, and the whole stock market gave way under this influence. Among the industrials, Distillers fell from 51½ to 40; Sugar from 125¾ to 122½, and others in proportion, and although prices rallied somewhat on covering of shorts in the last hour, the close for the whole list with the single exception of Cordage, which was up 2 per cent, was unsettled at the decline to the lowest prices of the day, and Sugar shows a loss of ½. Chicago Gas 1¾, Burlington 1 per cent, Consolidated Gas 1¾, and Reading and Western Union each 1 per cent.

The Egyptian Situation Exaggerated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—In answer to an inquiry by cable about the present political troubles in Egypt, F. Paladini & Co. received this morning the following cable answer from the correspondent in Alexandria: "No serious apprehensions felt here; unofficial Egypt[illegible] market firm and unchanged."

This was in response to Messrs. Paladini & Co. that the agitation among the lower class of the natives reported in the newspapers have been exaggerated as any serious business would have at once depressed the stock values.

French Newspaper Comment.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The French press continues to display indignation regarding the attitude of England in the Egyptian matter. The Debats says that England's attitude is a direct provocation to France and that Great Britain must explain her intentions.

The Figaro says that France ought to retaliate for England's course by occupying Tangiers.

The Republique Francaise declares that Europe will not allow the khedive to become a blind tool of England.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that France has asked the British government for an explanation as to the intention of the British army of occupation in Egypt.

NINTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

DENVER, Jan. 25. The prospects that Mr. W[illegible] would call up his resolution which directs the committee on elections to report without action they had taken on the contested cases of the three Populists who failed to file statements of their election expenses, caused the members to hurry into the house early this morning. Nearly every member was present when the roll was called.

The house was then notified that the senate had adopted the concurrent resolution appointing a committee to investigate the insurance department during the past six years. Invitations from various state institutions were read asking the members to visit them. There was a deputation to accompany, which was opposed by Mr. Booth of Lake, as it would cost the state $1,500 to do so, while the benefit derived would be [illegible].

Official bills were ordered printed, among them the one providing Chapter 10 of the statutes on coal mines and the bill for relief of the Collier & Cleveland printing company.

Mr. Wooten called up his resolution on the election committee. He slightly amended his resolution and Mr. Humphrey moved it be referred to committee on [illegible] the combine testimony.

Mr. Humphrey's motion to refer the matter to the committee on [illegible] was lost. After considerable [illegible] Mr. Kilton moved to lay the resolution on the table. Mr. Sweeney asked him to withdraw it until he could speak, but he refused. A vote was taken and the motion was carried by a vote of 31 to 32.

Mr. Dyatt of [illegible] Mr. Dyer has friends by refusing to [illegible]

Mr. Wooten called to table the [illegible] in order that he might exercise the privilege of moving for a [illegible]. He then formally moved to [illegible] reconsider, and on a vote it was taken and the motion was lost by a vote of 29 to 35.

Mr. Sweeney now introduced a resolution which requires that the committee on elections be required to report in [illegible] days on the right of Messrs. McKnight, Moore and Crowe to seats.

Mr. Wicks, chairman of the election committee, said that the meeting had been called to the consideration of the committee, and that therefore the resolution was out of order.

Speaker Amb[illegible] sustained Mr. Wicks by declaring the motion out of order. An appeal was taken by Mr. Sweeney from the decision of the chair, but the house sustained Mr. Ambrose.

Mr. Carney of Ouray arose and made the point of the meeting. He wanted to know why the committee had failed to allow the three Populist members who were interested to vote, if their votes would not have changed the result, for if nothing had been done in their case, then they had a right to vote. This was a point which worked both ways, for if the three votes were not allowed to vote, then there was something before the house in which they were interested, and they would have to consider the matter. But if there was nothing before the house concerning them, the votes could vote. Mr. Carney was interrupted by Representative Kilton, who moved for a recess until 2 o'clock. Mr. Carney pressed his point, but it was of no avail, and a recess was taken.

After the opening of the afternoon session the morning's battle was resumed. Mr. Fitzgerald introduced a resolution calling upon the committee on elections to investigate the cases of Messrs. Crow, Moore and McKnight and report at once to the house. Mr. Wooten raised a point of order that this was similar to the resolution tabled this morning. The speaker decided it was out of order.

Mr. Kilton said the entire matter was laid on the table. Mr. Ammons presented further discussion by saying that the resolution would go over under the rules and the fight was over for a time at least.

Upon motion of Mr. Carney the house resolved itself into committee of the whole to take up the unfinished orders. Mr. Hynes's bill concerning injuries to employes, which makes the employer liable for injuries sustained through negligence of fellow employes, came up first for consideration. A long time was spent in arguments for and against the bill, when on motion of J. Chris Bowen it was reported for indefinite postponement by a standing vote, and the report was adopted.

Mr. Bowen then introduced a bill in relation to the bill in question, which provides that [illegible] be that [illegible] to the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] at [illegible] a motion to [illegible] the passage of the bill. THAT OMNIBUS BILL.

The Republican Senatorial caucus at Washington endorsed an omnibus bill for the admission of all the remaining Territories except Arizona as States of the Union. The proposed bill includes the Territories of Utah, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The fact that Utah is included ought to settle the fate of the bill, but even if it were not an omnibus bill is a bad way of doing this business. The claims of each Territory ought to be considered separately. Each has its special conditions. New Mexico contains at least 100,000 people. Arizona contains only about 60,000. Nobody knows how many Oklahoma has, but it is probably somewhere between 70,000 and 100,000. The boundaries of Oklahoma are not yet settled, and cannot be until the Cherokee strip is opened and the final allotments are made to the Indian tribes in the Indian Territory. Arizona contains a great many Mormons, possibly enough to hold the balance of power. New Mexico has a great many Mexicans and a large part of her population do not speak English. Notwithstanding this drawback, New Mexico is perhaps ready for Statehood, but her case ought to be considered by itself, and Arizona and Oklahoma have absolutely nothing in common. Utah contains enough people such they are, but we are surprised that a majority could be obtained in caucus for the admission of this Territory while it is still so largely controlled by the Mormon hierarchy. It makes little difference whether the Mormons have given up polygamy or not, so long as they remain a compact body of voters, absolutely under the dictation of their leaders, and voting on all questions at the orders of the [illegible]. The Territory ought never to be allowed to become a State.

If any new States are to be admitted, it should be only after a careful examination of the claims of each separately. In any case, the admission ought not to be railroaded through by an "omnibus bill" just at the close of a session.

BAYARD AND MORTON.

It is now said positively that Mr Cleveland has offered the portfolio of State to Mr Thomas F Bayard of Delaware, and that he proposes to make a "business men's administration," and will appoint such practical business men as heads of departments. If both these rumors be true, the only conclusion to be arrived at is that Mr Cleveland considers Department a bore, for that is the only business at which Mr Bayard has ever been successful. He has gained a reputation in the Senate, but when he undertook to manage the Department of State he was discovered to be what the French call a "[illegible]." He wrote long diplomatic communications that settled nothing, and in his dealings with the British government [illegible] invariably took the English side rather than the American side. If he had been in office for the past four years the British would have secured the privilege of fishing in our [illegible] and we would have [illegible] to Canada [illegible] in Velvet.

Perhaps Mr Cleveland thinks that he has [illegible] if he has enough for two, but it would hardly help being a misfortune for the country to have Mr Bayard again in the State Department. International questions are bound to come to the front during the next four years. The Panama canal railway is likely to discriminate against American shippers. The Nicaragua canal needs vigorous handling. The International monetary conference ought to be directed on our part by a Secretary of State who is not a pronounced gold monometallist. All our foreign relations should be conducted by a man of unalterable firmness and sturdy Americanism. The Democratic party has no Blaine, to be sure, but it has a Morgan, a George, a Harris, a Phelps a Carter, a McCreary, in fact, a score of men who would be preferable to Mr Bayard as Secretary of State.

We are not of those who hope that Mr Cleveland will make blunders, in order that Republicans may take advantage of them in the next campaign. As patriotic Americans, all Republicans should desire that Mr Cleveland may select as Secretary of State some man who will maintain worthily the honor of the American name. It is because we are Americans first, and Republicans afterward, that we hope Mr Cleveland will select as his representative in dealing with foreign nations some stronger broader more vigorous man than Mr Bayard.

THE KANSAS POPULISTS

Now that the senatorship question has come to the fore in Kansas, the Populists are quarreling among themselves as bitterly as they have quarreled with the Republicans. Their caucus was as nearly divided as possible, forty four votes being cast on the fourteenth ballot for John Martin Populist Democrat, and forty three for Dexter Mitchell of the Local Populist. But that ballot did not settle the question. Charges of fraud were made and another ballot was necessary. These people seem to have gotten so fixed in the habit of charging fraud and corruption against all who differ with them that they cannot trust each other, and we must say that in this particular instance their distrust is well founded.

The State of Kansas is going through an experience now that ought to be of value not only to that commonwealth but to all others in which the so-called Populist [illegible] [illegible] strength. The [illegible] report implies that the Populist party is the only "People's party," and that all those who do not agree to their crazy socialistic theories are enemies of "the people," their utterances are hard for law and order, and for the mandates of the courts, the faults and frailties to which they are subject unblushingly to attain their ends by their whole [illegible] of legislatures duly chosen by ballot, all these things reveal them in their true colors as enemies of society of popular government, of constitutional rights. The Populist party has had a good deal of rope allowed it in Kansas in the past three years, and now it is rapidly making thereof a noose to hang itself. We do not believe the people of Kansas will choose again such men to legislate for them as are now disgracing themselves and their party in Topeka.

NATIONAL LEGISLATION AT DENVER.

The Colorado Legislature keeps right on legislating for the whole United States with occasional incidental attention to the State of Colorado. In Tuesday's proceedings were included the passage of resolutions and memorials on the anti option bill on the Nicaragua canal on silver purchases by the United States government and on the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday. If Congress would only delegate its functions for a month to our legislators in Denver all the great public questions would no doubt be speedily settled. The only trouble would be that all, or nearly all, of them would be settled wrong so that on the whole it is perhaps just as well that the Congress of the United States, incompetent as one branch of it is should deal with these questions, rather than the legislature at Denver.

Seriously a little less buncombe a good deal less of personal squabbling, and a little more attention to the real business of the State, would be gratefully appreciated from our Senate and House of Representatives. We are glad to notice that the members from El Paso county seem to be attending strictly to business.

From our Alabama contemporary, the Birmingham Age Herald, we learn that "the question as to whether the Southern States have the right to curtail their voters has been much discussed in the North recently." We had not noticed any such discussion, but we imagine that this naive admission that Southern voters wear candid appendages may give rise to some comment. Some years ago the state of California undertook to curtail the Chinese, but that is the only case of the kind that might serve as a precedent.

The partial destruction by fire of the Commonwealth hotel in the Alcazar hotel in St. Augustine is a misfortune to a great many Americans. It is not irreparable, however, for we suppose Mr Flagler will begin its rehabilitation at once. The Ponce de Leon and the Alcazar are perhaps the two most beautiful hotel buildings in the world, and the destruction of either is, from a purely artistic point of view, a national loss.

The Intercollegiate Football Association which includes Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Wesleyan have adopted a sensible rule which provides that hereafter no one shall be eligible to the football teams except undergraduates who are studying for a diploma. This is an excellent measure, which will tend to quench the professional spirit which is always in danger of creeping in to amateur athletics.

The Senatorial deadlock still continues in Kansas, Nebraska, Washington, North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming. If it lasts five weeks longer, the State of the Fifty third Congress will be several states short when it meets on the fourth of March.

Sixteen candidates for United States senator were voted for on the first ballot in the Wyoming legislature, but among them we fail to notice the name of Thomas M Patterson of Denver.

The Rio Grande [illegible] in North Dakota ought to stop [illegible] Montana and Idaho and join the Union [illegible].

Punish the Murderers.

No matter how widely people may differ as to the propriety or impropriety of allowing prize fights to be given at places of amusement on Sunday evening in this city, all right-thinking citizens must severely condemn the riotous behavior of the crowd that visited Dean Hartley's house on last Sunday evening and violated the law of the state and the ordinances of the city by their outrageous misconduct. As a matter of course very few of the crowd really took part in the violation of the law and the whole affair has undoubtedly been greatly exaggerated in so far as it was made to appear that a large number of those present desired to do bodily harm to the dean or to destroy his property. A vast majority of the participants in the affair were on-lookers who regarded the matter as a huge joke. The police should make strenuous efforts to identify and arrest the law breakers, and if any of them can be caught they should receive the severest punishment the law allows. The riotous incident is unquestionably calculated to injure the good name of Denver in other places where the true facts are not understood, and it is to be hoped that under no circumstances will such an occurrence be tolerated again in this city.—Denver Republican.

Compulsory Education in English.

Politicians of both parties are showing zeal in paving the way for the repeal of the Edwards school law, now a part of the Illinois statute. It is fortunate that while there is such manifest a determination to wipe it out comparatively little attention is given to the question of what shall take its place.

There is it is true a universal agreement that a compulsory education law should be enacted and efficiently enforced. The friends of the common schools, the advocates of parochial schools, the wage workers—in short all right-minded people believe in compulsory education.

But what is education in the American sense is a point where supporters of compulsory education array themselves into opposing factions.

The Edwards law requires that reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and history of the United States be taught in the English language. This however was not the main objection urged against it by its enemies. They resented the placing of private and parochial schools under the supervision of the local school boards which were likely in some instances to be unfriendly to them. Yet the teaching of English in such schools, they argued should be left at the discretion of those who support the schools.

It is important at this juncture to consider carefully the matter of English in the schools. If as the friends of private and parochial schools say English is taught in them practically in all instances, there should be no objection to a provision of the new law requiring the teaching of English in some one school study. Compulsory attendance upon schools in which the native language is practically suppressed might encounter constitutional doubt.

CRIPPLE CREEK A GREAT SUCCESS

The success of Cripple Creek as a great gold mining district is now assured beyond question. The dead work has been done on a large number of claims and many mines are now paying. Travel into the camp continues unabated, an average of fifty people going in daily. The Colorado Midland has 30 men at work and is completing the extension into the camp and as soon as the branch line is in operation a new impetus will be given to the camp. The route into Cripple Creek is via the Midland Railway to Divide station and thence by Handley's stage line into Fremont, the center of the district. This is the only quick and feasible route to reach Cripple Creek.

READ!

We represent the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co, one of the oldest, best and strongest companies in the country Everybody wants insurance now, and we write one of the best and plainest policies possible. Every statement we make we put down in figures in the policy We make no general statements everything is down in figures. Notice some of the things we do

FIRST Every policy after two years has a definite cash surrender value.

SECOND---After two years the company will lend you a definite amount of money at 6 per cent.

THIRD Now notice and read it carefully If after two premiums have been paid you can not from any cause meet the annual premiums, the company will carry you to the end of the endowment term free of cost to you, and should you die during that time will pay the full amount of your policy.

Can you afford upon such terms to be without life insurance? And remember, this is one of the best companies in the country.
